however, published studies utilizing a validated stress scale to explore the effect of stress among pharmacy graduate students (masters and doctoral level) are lacking.

it also means the self-proclaimed foodie, who cites new yorks restaurants as his favorite part of living here, is condemned to a 6,000-calories-per-day diet of bland, boiled chicken.